From a Knot in The Board...

Spring is on us coming soon. We are in the process of opening our work shops that we closed last fall. I was given a reminder on Monday that we need to look at safety first. Last week I was cutting a simple pinewood derby car when my finger sucking band saw got my thumb. Then a trip to urgent care and five stitches later – it was a real pain. To compound my problem infection set in and more pain and agony (some would say a learning experience). Now I am on the mend and doing better. The tools we use are power tools and we can create wonderful items for our family and others. Be careful when things go wrong things go wrong fast. Stay safe my friends.

In January we had a wonderful presentation by Wendell and a challenge was given to the members. Have you created your ultimate design and long spinning top? We will be looking at them during the instant gallery.

Thank You to Lyndal Anthony and his presentation on the “Art of the Cut”. The challenge for April is to bring in an item SAFELY turned with nontraditional tools.

I would also like to thank the people who came to setup our room for the last meeting. Your help showed. We will need your help again this month.

Mark Palma from Eau Claire will be presenting in March on getting the best out of your Carbide Insert tools. See you then.

Adrian

Schedule (subject to change)

March	Mark Palma	Using Carbide Insert Lathe Tools
April	Jim Frank	Vases
June	Duane Hill	Threading
September	Stuart Batty	Professional

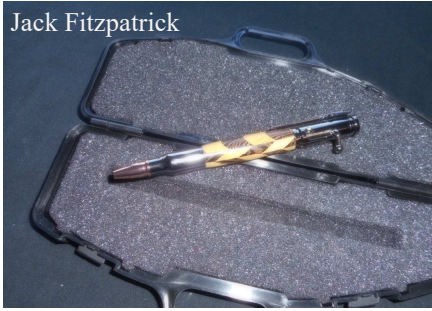

On Feb 25, 2017, CRW members taught a group of 17 home-schooled children and their parents woodturning. The children ranged from nine years old through high school. Club members Mary and Joseph Lehn organized the home-school group. The event was held at A-Line. CRW mentors were Jim Frank, Virginia Green, Phil Miller, Bob Raasch, John Griffiths, Jack Fitzpatrick, Kris Clough, Duane Hill and Nicole Sandeen. Kudos to John Griffiths for organizing this. Also thanks to A-Line and their employees for hosting the event and helping put it together. Looks like everyone had a great time. Sample of photos below.
